Patching the past

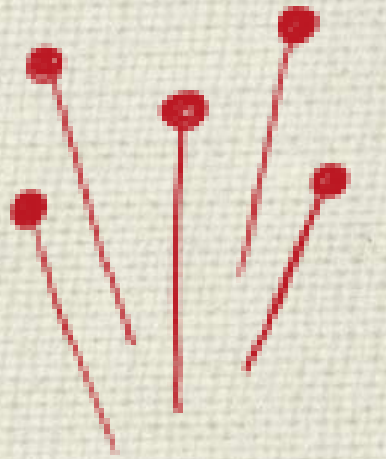

Kolkata's heritage is rooted in its history, creativity, and way of life. Shaped by art, literature, architecture, and traditions passed down through generations, the city reflects a deep cultural soul that still lives in its streets and people.

Our Fabrics

Kolkata's fabric heritage reflects a long tradition of skilled handloom weaving. Fabrics like Baluchari and Tant sarees are valued for their intricate patterns, storytelling motifs, and comfort. Passed down through generations, these textiles represent the creativity and cultural identity of the city.

The role of technology

Technology plays an important role in preserving Kolkata's fabric heritage by supporting traditional weaving while keeping it relevant today.

- Digital documentation helps record old weaving techniques, patterns, and designs for future generations.
- Online platforms and social media allow artisans to showcase and sell their fabrics globally.
- Improved looms and tools increase efficiency without losing the handmade quality.
- E-commerce and digital marketing help weavers earn better livelihoods and keep the craft alive.
- Design software assists in adapting traditional motifs to modern tastes while preserving originality.
